JOHN K. SUMNER'S ESTATE AGAIN CAUSE OF PILIKIA

John K. Sumner is again in litigation. The aged capitalist this morning, by Attorneys E. M. Watson and W. W. Thayer, asked for an order to A. V. Gear, as trustee, to make an accounting. Sumner's affairs some years ago led to most sensational litigation, ending in the disbarment of several attorneys who were said to have had held him up. Since then he has had various trustees and trust deeds. The motion filed this morning asks the court for an order to compel the new trustee to file a complete accounting from November 4, 1908, to date. The estate some years ago was estimated at $80,000.

NAVAL MEN WHO MAY SUCCEED ADMIRAL REES HERE

Rear Admiral Corwin P. Rees, commandant of the naval station who retires for age on September 4, has received no word as yet of his successor from the navy department in Washington. Several officers have been spoken of in the past as likely to get the important post, although no official sanction as for as known has been given their applications.

Captain Charles F. Pond, who is at present in command of the cruiser Pennsylvania, has been spoken of as likely to be appointed here on Admiral Rees' retirement, Captain Pond was commandant here in 1902-03 and was well liked by every one who knew him. Another officer who has been mentioned for the high position is Commander Hugh Rodman, commanding the U. S. S. Cleveland although it is doubtful if he would accept the post if it was possible to get it, as he is entitled to shore duty in the United States.

Captain James C. Gilmore is another who would like the post if he could get it, as he stated to some of his friends last year when he was here that he would like nothing better than to be stationed at Honolulu.

Rear Admiral Rees has reached the highest possible honor in time of peace by being made an admiral of the first nine. Admiral Rees was born in Reily, Ohio, September 4, 1848.

He enlisted when sixteen in the Fifty-fourth Ohio Infantry Veteran Volunteers, and served during the remainder of the Civil War in Sherman's army through the battles of Resaca, Dallas, Kennesaw Mountain, Atlanta, the pursuit of Hood, the march to the sea, the storming of Fort McAllister, the walkover of the Carolinas, the Bentonville struggle, the surrender of Johnsonville, and the grand review at Washington.

A year after the close of the war he entered the U. S. Naval Academy, remaining in the naval service ever since. He has traveled the world in vessels of every type. He was in Honolulu in 1873 as an officer of the sailing sloop-of-war Portsmouth, at the time of the death of Lunalilo. Three years later he was here in the Lackawanna; in the Essex in 1882, and aboard a mail steamship in 1899.

At the battle of Manila he was executive officer and was on the bridge with Admiral Dewey aboard the Olympia, being promoted for eminent and conspicuous conduct in battle.

SAYS CANNOT DISTRIBUTE TO AHLBORN'S WIDOW

THE TESTAMENTARY PROVISION ABOUT FUTURE HUSBAND IS DECLARED TO PROVIDE FOR TRUST

How far is the $216,000 estate of the late Carl H. A. Ahlborn tied up by the sentence in his will declaring that it shall be entirely free from any control by any possible future husband of this widow? In a master's report to the circuit court this morning Henry Smith suggests that this sentence in the will indicates an intention to have the estate in trust, and he proposes the appointment of a trustee to handle it.

The widow and children are in Germany. There are three sons and one daughter, all of age excepting one son. The deceased left his property to the widow and children with a proviso that it should "be entirely free from all control whatsoever by any future husband" of his wife.

This, says Henry Smith, indicates an intention to found a trust. It cannot have been intended to leave the property to the control of the widow, he says, for this might be the control of a future husband. There is no person qualified to represent the estate in this territory, says Smith, and he suggests that the executor, W. Potenhauer, apply to the court for the appointment of a trustee.

"Who is the distributee?" is a question passed up to the court by Smith, though he suggests as his answer a trustee to hold the property for the widow.

The report on the accounts of Potenhauer as executor approved all his accounts and actions.

POLICE COURT

Mrs. Pahu and Mrs. Kala who gained some fame the other day by their ability to throw poi barrels, were each fined $5 and costs for affray, by District Magistrate Andrade, this morning.

The case of Lieut. Burchfield charged with using threatening language was continued until tomorrow.

KUHIO GOES TO HAWAII

Delegate Kalaniana'ole is now enjoying himself at his home at Kailua, fishing, as said by the morning paper to be "reported." Prince Kuhio Kalaniana'ole was seen about town this morning.

He will leave for Hawaii, however, in the Mauna Kea next Tuesday. The delegate's visit to the big island will be in connection with the election campaign, but the length of his stay and his itinerary are thus far held as confidential.

GUARD FAILED TO PULL STRING

GAMBLERS RAIDED IN THEIR DEN

LAST NIGHT—THE GUARD WAS CAUGHT NAPPING.

A "straight tip," a poorly guarded room and the ability of Chief of Detectives McDuffie and his men to gain entrance to a gambling game in a room near the fishmarket last night, resulted in the county treasury being increased this morning $190.

A little before eight o'clock last night McDuffie and his men were sitting around the room near the Chief's office when word came that a Japanese gambling game was running full blast on King street near the corner of River street.

Immediate preparations were made for the raid, guns were strapped to the waists of the guardians of the law and every detail made for the successful capture of the men who dared tempt fate within a few blocks of the police station.

When the force arrived at the door of the room a lone Jap was sitting at the door way half asleep. McDuffie fired his gun and before the guard realized what had happened he found himself looking into the muzzle of McDuffie's 38. Quick action on McDuffie's part prevented the Jap from calling out to the thirteen men inside who were quietly but surely gathering in the coin.

The patrol wagon was summoned and the men taken to the receiving station where they were released on cash bail. When their names were called this morning by Officer Weed in police court not one of the thirteen were present, the result being Judge Andrade's order to have their bail forfeited.

A cover of a tin tobacco box with about a hundred feet of twine was the homemade signal that had been prepared for the use of the guard at the door, but his failure to pull the string when he was surprised by McDuffie was alone responsible for the successful gathering in of men, money and cards.

THE REMAINING GOOD THINGS

There are to be only four more performances of the present vaudeville and farce comedy bill at the New Orpheum. The usual Saturday matinee will be given but the theater will be turned over to the Cordell-Cornyn fight promoters Saturday evening. The present double bill of vaudeville and farce comedy is the best that has been offered by the members of the Casino Musical comedy company. "What Happened to Jones" is a scream from curtain rise to finish while all of the vaudeville items stand out as features. Miss Bunyee's songs this week are as catchy as any she has as yet done, while her gowns are creations in themselves.

Maude Rockwell, Carlton Chase Harris, McQuire, Melville Gideon, Harry Garrity, Laurel Atkins, Olga Steck, Vilma Steck and Harry Stuart comprise the remaining good things on this week's Orpheum program.
